Agricultural Commissioner Moves Office

Citing dangers of continuing to maintain his offices in the basement of the courthouse, County Agricultural Commissioner Max Leonard addressed the board of supervisors Monday and he was granted new space in the juvenile detention home building at the corner of Marshall street and Middlefield road.

Leonard will move his offices as soon as the juvenile home is moved into the old county jail on Broadway, which has been remodeled. This will be within a few days.

The commissioner told the board that in using calcium cyanide for fumigating gladioli bulbs the lethal gas might escape and asphyxiate himself and others working at the courthouse.

In the detention home, Leonard said he will have ample space for vents to carry off the deadly gas.

High School's Exhibit Winner In Flower Show

Taking three first places, the Sequoia Union High School won more than any other school at the San Mateo-Burlingame flower show which has just ended in the San Mateo Junior College gymnasium.

The named collection of trees and shrubs which won first place was entered by Mrs. Louise Barker's home gardening class. Prepared by Albina Mariani, Olga Magnani, Sasako Nakanishi, and Henrietta Lopez, it included specimens of all trees and shrubs on the campus and a blue print of their locations.

The winning pressed wild flower exhibit, entered by Mrs. Barker's botany class, was made by Helen Savage, Frances Becker, Roy Wonne, William Bacon, Irene Risen, Ruth Peterson, Venus Rich, and Marjorie Wallace, with Walter Newcomb, student teacher directing the preparation.

Two Terrariums, made by William Bartlett with material brought largely by Roscoe Savage, took first place in that class.

R. C. Girl Wins Song Prize At Mills College

First honors for an original song were won by Miss Meryle Jean Martin of Redwood City in the annual concert of original compositions by students in the music department of Mills College Wednesday evening in the hall for chamber music on the Mills campus.

Miss Martin's prize-winning song, "Sic Vita," was sung by Miss Mildred McCann of San Mateo, soprano. Miss Martin also composed "The House and the Road" for the concert. Publication of the winning song is the prize.

Two songs by Miss Eloise Brann of Palo Alto were entered in the competition.

Miss Martin, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Martin, is a graduate of Sequoia high school and a senior at Mills. Mr. and Mrs. Martin and Miss Audine Martin attended the concert and a reception which followed at the Oakland home of Miss Martin's grandmother, Mrs. R. H. Reeder.

REHEARING OF FLOOD SUIT ASKED

Counsel for Recognized Heirs Opposes High Court

150 PAGE BRIEF

'Illogical' Reasoning Of Illegitimacy Alleged

Containing 150 pages, an appeal for a rehearing on the decision of the state supreme court awarding a new trial to Mrs. Constance May Gavin, claimant for a daughter's share in the $9,000,000 Flood estate, was on file in San Francisco today.

Attorneys Garret W. McEnerney and Theodore J. Roche, representing the recognized Flood heirs, filed the brief.

It sets forth that there was no direct evidence that Mrs. Gavin was James L. Flood's illegitimate daughter and takes exception to the view of the supreme court that "this reasoning is illogical, unjust and does violence to all the evidence in the case," holds the opinion. "It imports wrongdoing where the facts show that innocence alone is to be presumed."

Declarations of Mr. and Mrs. Flood were to the effect that the child was theirs, born to them in wedlock, the petition pointed out.

It goes on to argue that no jury should be permitted to torture any such declarations into an intimation that the child was the illegitimate daughter of Mr. Flood and Eudora Forde Willette.

Philanthropic agencies throughout the nation find homes for waifs, both legitimate and illegitimate, and tens of thousands of couples take into their homes each year these children and treat them exactly as their own, the brief declares.

Therefore, if the statements of the Floods were to be construed as admissions of illegitimacy, every one of these other adopted children would be able to advance the same claims, it is argued.

"This reasoning is illogical, unjust and does violence to all the evidence in the case," holds the opinion. "It imports wrongdoing where the facts show that innocence alone is to be presumed."

There was no evidence to show that either Mrs. Willette or her mother had ever spoken to Mr. Flood before the birth of the child, states the appeal.

"Having taken the child into their home," continued the appeal, "Mr. and Mrs. Flood assumed to ward her the role of parents; treated her, spoke of her as their own child."

"The holding of the opinion that the inference may be drawn from the facts of common experience and common knowledge and has no basis in reason and should not be held to have any in law."

The state supreme court recently ruled that former Superior Judge George H. Buck erred in taking the Flood case out of the hands of a jury here. This paved the way for a new trial, which the brief filed today seeks to block.

AUXILIARY OF LEGION ENTERTAINS

Fifteen Units Are Here For Quarterly Meeting

FIRST TIME HERE

Nearly 150 Present for Ceremonies In R. C.

Members of Auxiliary Unit No. 105 of the American Legion were hostess Wednesday to the 15 units of the eighth district, covering the territory from San Francisco to Menlo Park, at their quarterly meeting.

This was the first time a district meeting of the auxiliary has been held in Redwood City, and the attendance far exceeded expectations, nearly 150 being present. Mrs. Florence Chess of Burlingame, district president, presided. Assisting her were Mrs. C. A. Devol, president of the Menlo Park unit; Mrs. May Wood of San Mateo unit; Mrs. Edith Rousseau of Belmont unit; Mrs. May Fitzgerald, sergeant at arms, and Mrs. Anna Bennett-Robb, marshal of Redwood City unit.

Eighteen state and district officers reported on the activities of the auxiliary for the past quarter, and outlined its future program. Among the distinguished guests were Mrs. Andree Olson of Los Angeles, state poppy chairman; Mrs. Edith Howerton, state legislative chairman; Mrs. Ethel Flynn, state secretary; Mrs. Elizabeth Edwards, area president, and Mrs. Ruth Mathebat, state membership chairman.

Promote Poppy Sale

Mrs. Olson appealed to auxiliary members and their friends to make an especial effort this year to promote the distribution of poppies made by the disabled veterans, in view of the recent economic legislation which makes more necessary than ever a united effort in support of this phase of the auxiliary program.

In many cases, the sum realized from the distribution of these poppies is the only financial assistance received by these helpless men confined in government hospitals. The poppies to be distributed by the auxiliary members in Redwood City, on May 26, under the direction of Mrs. Mary Hayes, unit poppy chairman, are made by disabled veterans at the United States Veterans' Hospital at Palo Alto.

Mrs. Edith Howerton, who came directly from Sacramento to the meeting, reported on the widows and orphans bill before the state legislature. Action of the governor on the budget will determine the fate of this legislation at this session. Its passage will greatly relieve municipalities and counties of the care of indigent widows and orphans of veterans.

New Members Urged

Mrs. Elizabeth Edwards of Gilroy urged upon the auxiliary an increase in membership to carry out the very comprehensive legislative, social service, national defense, Americanism and community service programs of the organization.

Mrs. Ethel Flynn spoke briefly on the co-operation essential between the legion and the auxiliary and referred to numerous instances where the auxiliary has come to the aid of the legion in working out to the fullest extent its community service activities in the direction of Boy and Girl Scout sponsorship, disaster relief, the presentation of school awards, the observance of patriotic holidays, participation in naturalization classes, education in the flag code, etc.

Mrs. Ruth Mathebat impressed upon the membership the importance of enlisting all eligible women in the ranks of the auxiliary, pointing out the fact that service in its behalf, is service in support of the government institutions and traditions. She referred to the approach of Mother's Day and its proper observance by the organization.

Commander Emmett Donnelly of Redwood City post extended the thanks of the legion to the auxiliary for its support of legion activities and assured the organization of the fullest co-operation on the part of Redwood City post.

Committee reports were made by the following district chairmen: Mesdames Edith Lukens, poppy

500 Limit On Coeds Raised By Stanford

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, May 11.—Stanford today abolished its 500 limit on women students.

The action was taken by the board of trustees, meeting in San Francisco this afternoon.

It was announced that the decision had been reached on account of the financial condition of the university.

The 500 limit for coeds was set in 1899 by Mrs. Leland Stanford.

Woman Bids For Job of Health Head

Dr. Edith Sappington, 2210 Jackson street, San Francisco, former assistant in physical education for women at Stanford University, today became the first applicant for the position of director of health and welfare for San Mateo county.

Her application was filed for future reference by the board of supervisors and will be turned over to the county executive, when appointed. The position is created by the new charter.

The applicant was graduated from the University of California with an A. B. in 1920, from Stanford with an M. A. in 1922, and from the University of California Medical School with an M. D. in 1927. She is taking additional studies at the state university at this time.

Gun Mishap Causes Man To Lose Arm

Tony Ganaso, 35, employee of the Sato ranch, on the San Mateo county coastside, was reported near death today in the Community Hospital, San Mateo, after his right arm was amputated.

Ganaso suffered heavily from loss of blood before he was brought to the hospital following a hunting accident Sunday. His shotgun accidentally discharged when Ganaso stumbled, according to reports. Weak from loss of blood, he staggered to the farm house and from there was brought to the hospital.

It was necessary to amputate the arm above the elbow.

UTILITIES' COST SHOWN TO BE HUGE

Louis Bartlett Tells Of Benefits Under Public Ownership

RATES ARE TAXES

But Public Doesn't Realize It, Says Club Speaker

Citing startling figures showing the cost of gas and electricity as nearly 50 per cent greater than the entire cost of state government in a year, Louis Bartlett, former mayor of Berkeley and one of the original directors of the East Bay Water District, told the Kiwanis Club members Wednesday how 84 cities are "tax free" and yet perform all the functions of ordinary cities.

Bartlett, author of the plan whereby Redwood City would have taken over the Pacific Gas and Electric Company plant here and paved the way for it to become a tax-free city, declared "there is nothing extraordinary in the location of these taxless cities or in their natural advantages; they pay operating expenses as many efficient factories do—from their by-products and by cutting out wastes."

In 16 States The taxless cities range from a few hundred population to over 200,000 and are located in 16 states, Bartlett said.

"These cities recognize that their business is to furnish all the services their people require in their everyday life, and do so, using the profits from the sales of water, gas and electricity that would otherwise go to the private companies to carry on the police, educational and other non-revenue producing functions," the speaker said.

Bartlett declared the trouble is that the public has not come to look upon the gas bill or the electric bill as a tax the same as the money which is paid to operate the city or state governments is a tax.

"In reality," Bartlett said, "what is paid for public utility service is a tax, and we are not used to calling it that because it is not paid at the city hall twice a year, but is turned over monthly to a private company which makes a profit out of the transaction."

More Than Taxes Most people pay far more for water, gas and electricity in a year than they pay for support of city, county, state and national governments, the speaker said.

Illustrating, Bartlett cited that the cost of state government in California for the current year is $28,000,000, while gas and electric bills alone were $188,000,000—nearly 50 per cent greater.

City governments, he said, cost $145,000,000, and county governments, $123,000,000.

"If we were to add the cost of water, telephone and transportation to the $188,000,000, the disparity would be much greater," Bartlett said.

Utilities' Dominance

Bartlett told of the tax reduction efforts of the California State Chamber of Commerce and the California Taxpayers' Association, which he said, were largely dominated by utility directors.

The speaker declared these groups worked for a reduction in salaries of the state supreme justices from a combined salary for the seven of them of $77,000 to $56,000.

Meanwhile, he said, the big utility companies continued to pay their presidents and directors excessive salaries, charging them up to the consumers.

One salary cited was $75,000 paid to A. F. Hockenbeamer, president of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, more than enough to pay the salaries for a year of all the justices if they were left at the old level.

Hockenbeamer's own salary cut was from $75,000 to $72,000, Bartlett said.

The P. G. and E. also paid its other executives well, 94 salaries in excess of $5,000, he said.

"Twenty-one California cities own their own distributing systems, most of them buying power wholesale from the private companies," Bartlett reported.

"A comparison of domestic rates for lighting, heating and cooking shows that most of the public-owned systems sell power for less," he said.

"For instance, for $2 per month (Continued on Page Two)

'Look At Label On Your Hat,' Odom Tells Audience Here in Trade-in-Redwood City Rally

"Look at the label in your own hat!"

"Was it bought in Redwood City, or elsewhere?"

"Are you, Mr. Merchant, setting the example for your employees and your customers to follow by trading at home?"

William T. Odom of Sacramento, whom advance publicity said was "15 pounds of dynamite," proved to be just that Monday by asking such pointed questions as these at a well-attended "trade at home" meeting in the Redwood City firehouse.

Odom called attention to former "trade at home" efforts in Redwood City last year, and said these were effective as he had made notes of them for reference.

The speaker paid particular attention to the part the merchant himself and his sales force are playing in the "trade at home" movements.

"Merchants want people to come to the stores and find out what they have," he said. "The question is, 'what do you do after they come to your store to let them know what you have?'" he asked.

Answers Own Query

Supplying his own answer, Odom said: "Ninety-nine per cent nothing. No suggestions are made, nothing shown."

"Why does another city the size of Redwood City have six million dollars more business per year than Redwood City? That question is for the business and professional people to answer. When the answer is found, it is the merchants who should correct it, not the customers," the speaker declared.

Declaring it is not "unloyalty," but "unthought" which sends business out of town, Odom told of the improved conditions which would exist if the merchants and the salespeople set the way and their customers followed.

"If we were all supporters of local merchants there would be

Opposition to 'Cutting Up' Campus Heard

Promotion Association Wants Sequoia Site Kept Intact

Opposition to any plan of converting the El Camino Real and Broadway frontages of the famed Sequoia Union High School campus into business property was voiced today by the Redwood City Promotion Association.

Plans showing how the proposed business block on the Sequoia campus will look are said to be already drawn and have been exhibited to various individuals.

James D. Hodge, president of the Sequoia board, said that the school trustees have not been formally approached on the subject, but that he will personally oppose any such move unless it has the approval of the entire Sequoia district electors, both here, in San Carlos and in Menlo Park.

Hodge said some proposal was discussed two years ago and was at that time frowned upon by the school trustees.

Members of the planning commission said the matter was discussed briefly and unofficially at the meeting Monday night, but that the proposal was not actually before that body and had not been formally presented by anyone.

The proposal is said to call for taking 125 feet of frontage on the Broadway side and the same amount on the state highway side. This is not all the frontage, but for the principal corner at Broadway and El Camino Real, the main entrance to the Sequoia campus.

It is said the group supporting the plan is advancing the proposal to lease the property for commercial purposes so that the costs of operating the school can be lowered.

'Look At Label On Your Hat,' Odom Tells Audience Here in Trade-in-Redwood City Rally

It is urged that merchants do not delay but sign the names and turn them in to the chamber of commerce as soon as possible. Any business man who does not have blanks can obtain them by calling the chamber of commerce.

Several civic organizations have asked the retail division to send a speaker to explain how the campaign to trade in Redwood City will aid employment, help to fill vacant store buildings and bring about greater prosperity.

Real Estate Boom In Offing In R. C.

A big boom is in the offing for Redwood City. Two large firms are negotiating for the purchase of two blocks on Broadway.

The blocks may be closed at any time. It was rumored that a mammoth store building is soon to be erected at the lower end of Main street. Other deals are pending. Real estate men in Redwood City are more than optimistic feeling that the alleged depression is over and the return of prosperity is at hand.

Pea Acreage In Co. Gains; Prices Down

San Mateo county has 8,412 acres devoted to peas, an increase of 2500 acres over 1932, Max Leonard, agricultural commissioner, reported today. The increase in acreage is said to have caused a drop in the price of the vegetable.

Leonard said the Half Moon Bay area has 3,169 acres devoted to peas; San Gregorio, 4,928 acres, and Colma, 315 acres. The county-grown peas, he said, especially those in the fog belts, are the best-tasting peas in the state.

The county pea acreage puts this county in the lead as a producer of vegetables, Leonard said.

SAN FRANCISCO

Menlo Park

With the wrecking of the Little Green Door building, memories of other days are recalled. The ancient structure was erected half a century ago by the firm of Duff & Doyle. One portion of the structure was used as a hall. A temporary society was organized in Menlo Park in the early nineties and there the meetings were held. It was in this hall that Menlo Park N. S. G. W. was organized in 1893. The other part of the building was occupied by a drug store. In the eighties Mrs. Jane Loveland was appointed postmistress of Menlo Park. The office was moved from the Duff & Doyle store to the pharmacy. Mrs. Loveland received her appointment through Senator Leland Stanford, shortly after his election to the senate. Mrs. Stanford was a friend of the postmistress and it is said she urged her husband to make the selection, though others were seeking the political plum. Mrs. Loveland held the position for a great many years and was succeeded by James G. Mason. The ancient land mark is gone and will only remain as a memory. A modern structure is to take its place.

Sixteen members of Menlo Park American Legion Auxiliary attended the tri-yearly district meeting which was held in Redwood City War Memorial building Thursday, May 10. After routine business, a Mother's Day program was given in honor of the four dear "Mothers" of Redwood City Unit. While gifts were given to the distinguished guests, Isabelle Lindquist sang "Ave Marie," as a special request number, dedicating it to all of the mothers.

Mrs. Lee Powell of Burlingame lectured to 24 members of Trinity Guild on her recent tour which she took to the Orient, Australia, and South Sea Islands. She brought back many interesting objects and pictures, dolls, etc., which she passed around. Luncheon was served to members of the guild, and several guests came in later to hear Mrs. Powell's very interesting talk.

John Morey has been awarded the contract to tear down and rebuild a new building on the site formerly occupied by "The Little Green Door." Fred Nessler, who occupied this building, will move to temporary quarters across the street until the new building is completed.

Charles O'Neil, proprietor of "The Wagon," leaves Sunday, May 14 for his old home in Boston, Mass., for an extended visit. It is his boyhood home and he has not visited there for over 30 years.

Real Estate in Demand

That Redwood City is in for a lively real estate boom was forecasted yesterday when rumors were afloat to the effect that several choice blocks were being negotiated for by wealthy San Francisco residents who see a great future in this locality. Other parcels of land were sought by investors.

Redwood City has a bright future and those having foresight will buy now and await the increased value that is certain to come.

There is some certainty that the Western Pacific Railroad Company may start its line to Redwood City from Niles this year. This would cause a decided flurry in real estate values and bring prosperity to the community. Just keep your eyes on Redwood City and watch it grow.

Governor's Stand Right

The stand that Governor Rolph has taken to divert $8,500,000 from the gas fund to the general fund of the state to pay off the road bonds is absolutely right. This should be done to relieve the taxpayer. It is surprising that the legislature should fail in doing this. The bonds were voted by the people years ago to improve the road system of the state. In as much as the money went into roads used by the people the money to liquidate the bond issue ought, in justice, come from the gas fund.

Rolph has the commendation of every taxpayer in his efforts to wipe out these bonds from a source the money should come and thus take one burden, at least, from the property owner.

THE PRIZE WINNER in Bank of America's slogan contest

Strong enough to protect you.....

large enough to serve you.....

small enough to know you.....

IN a Bank of America statewide slogan contest (limited to the personnel of this bank and affiliated institutions) P. L. Danz of the Sacramento Main Office captured the largest award. Twenty other prizes were also given to other contestants. Mr. Danz's slogan included three of the many reasons why Bank of America is the most heavily patronized bank in the West—

"Strong enough to protect you . . .
Large enough to serve you . . .
Small enough to know you . . ."

ELECTRIC RANGES cook automatically
without watching... without attention

MODERN LIVING demands that women be much more than cooks and kitchen toilers. They must have freedom from pot-watching and oven-peeking. Life is less simple today. There are so many worth-while advantages open for the use of leisure.

How essential it is, in creating this freedom, in giving this worth-while leisure, to have the aid of an electric range.

Here is the most modern of cooking appliances, always ready to cook whole dinners automatically. Every cooking operation for a whole dinner? Yes, every step for a perfect, precision-cooked dinner.

Put the roast and potatoes in the bottom of a roomy pan; more vegetables in other pans; and then apples or pudding for dessert. All go into the oven of the electric range at the same time. Now set the electric time control if you wish the cooking to begin hours or even half a day later. Set the temperature control and your dinner will cook itself. There is modern living and simplified cooking for you!

Why not make certain now with summer at hand to have the service and all the cooking advantages that the electric range brings into the kitchen. See and select the model for your home at the nearest P. G. and E. office or at your dealer's.

You can afford it, prices are low and purchase terms are within the reach of every family budget.
